GLOBAL STUDIES GSAH IN THE ARTS AND HUMANITIES

College of Arts and Letters

Global Interactions and Identities 220

Fall. 3(3-0)

Specific regions and their interactions across time. Historical and contemporary transformations of cultures and identities, in order to understand global conditions, concepts, and debates from the past and in the present.

Values, Experience, and Difference in Global Contexts

Spring. 3(3-0)

Conflicting cultural systems. Differing norms and values. Ethics, values, judgments and responses as they are affected by interactions in global and local contexts

310

Conflict and Justice in a Global Setting Fall. 3(3-0) P: (GSAH 220 and GSAH 230) and completion of Tier I writing requirement Addresses global justice and ethics in regional, national, and transnational contexts, through the study of environmental, political, social, religious, sexual and gender conflicts.

Crossing Boundaries/Changing Worlds 311

Spring. 3(3-0) P: (GSAH 220 and GSAH 230) and completion of Tier I writing requirement

Causes and motives. Identities and relationships. Transformations and traditions of people moving across geographic boundaries at local, regional, and national levels. Effect on local and global conditions. Creative, philosophical, and historical explorations.

Media Mobility: Change, Access, 312 Representation

Fall. 3(3-0) P: (GSAH 220 and GSAH 230) and completion of Tier I writing requirement Circulations and appropriations of media in the context of technological change. Economic power and political conflict. Print, film, radio, television, and digital culture.

450 Global Theory Seminar (W)

Fall. 3(3-0) P: (GSAH 310 and GSAH 311 and GSAH 312) and completion of Tier I writing requirement RB: GSAH 310 and GSAH 311 and GSAH 312 R: Approval of department.

Broad theoretical debates in global studies. Models and systems that theorize global relationships, formations, and interactions.